

Barony of Namron Business Meeting Minutes
20 February 2020

From Their Excellencies:

Gulf Wars is approaching soon, and Their Excellencies will host a workday at their home on Saturday, 21 February, to complete the poles for the new pavilion and to repair the grill. All are welcome.

Their Excellencies requested feedback from the officers on ways to provide a more familial feeling within the Barony. Suggestions from the attendees included "Populace at the Park," and hosting "gathers" in conjunction with Archery and Thrown Weapons practice or separately.

From the Seneschal:

We are still waiting for a decision for the Target Archery Marshal position.

The Barony is reinstating the position of Historian. The position will be a Deputy of the Chronicler, but operate independently, similar to the Social Media Deputy. The position will be posted soon.

The Seneschal will endeavor to provide approximately 60 days advance notice of officers' membership expirations. Please copy the Seneschal when sending in updated membership/bgcheck to uplines. Officers within the time range were notified, but names are redacted from the minutes.

Primary Officers whose Deputies have not submitted their roster information will be notified this week in order to ensure that information is current.

Primary Officers were reminded to check email regularly, and to aim for a 24-hour response time to inquiries.

New Business:

Chronicler, Bantiarna Cailleach Dhé inghean Uí Chaerbhail:

The deadline for Officer Missives in The Plume is approaching. Please begin preparing yours for submission.

Knight's Marshal, Lord Ragnar Kelson of Durham:

This month's Firestorm Armoring Day will be held on Sunday, 22 February, at House Rookery. Tools are available for work on all types of armor and weapons. This is planned to be a monthly activity.

Medieval Fair Director, Ann Marie Eckart:

Ms. Eckart brought Medieval Fair posters and brochures for those who wished to distribute or display them. This year's winning artwork was submitted by Amy Kercher.

Training Session:

This month's training session covered security and usage basics for GMail, and a brief review of additional applications provided to officers. Training was presented by the Seneschal, with the Webminister providing one-on-one technical assistance. A copy of the slides is available upon request.
